Two employes of the Kroehler Manufacturing Co., including one who retires today, have been selected by the company's Zero Defects committee as "Employee of the Year" in their respective plants.

Raymond Langlois, 531 S. Tanner Ave. a 43-year employe of Kroehler, was chosen for the employe award at plant number four. He retires from the company today.

Armando "Herman" Marsalli, who has been with the company 46 years, received the award in plant No. 3.

LANGLOIS WAS first employed by Kroehler as a burlap cutter in April of 1927 and continued in that job classification until 1942 when he was employed in the file cabinet department while the company fulfilled wartime government contracts.

With the end of the war, he returned to his old job of cutting burlap and sheeting, and with the exception of a few temporary jobs, was used mainly as a cover checker from 1955 to 1962. He went back to sheet cutting in 1962 and continued in that job until today.

In order for both Langlois and Marsalli to be chosen "Employee of the Year," they first had to be chosen for a monthly award, and then selected from the year's 12 winners.

Langlois said that he plans to spend his retirement years in reading and practicing playing the organ. Also on the agenda is a spring visit to a brother in California.

THE ZERO defects award for outstanding performance and a $100 U. S. Savings Bond were presented to Langlois at a dinner held in his honor.

Receiving the same award at a dinner in his honor was Marsalli, who lives at 1044 S. Nelson Ave. A company spokesman said, "Herman was selected not only because of his outstanding talent and wide experience, but also because of his cooperative attitude toward his fellow workers."

Marsalli started work at the plant on March 10, 1924. During that period he has performed every operation in upholstering from springing to trimming, including the jobs of leadman, utility man, team captain and service repairman. He was transferred to plant number three on June 23 as an instructor. He is presently working in the repair department and, according to company sources, is depended upon to make most of the sample furniture for the furniture marts.
