

SCHOOL BOARD MEET

HOLD MEETING TUESDAY EVENING

Teachers Engaged For Coming Year. Some of Old Teachers Resign

The school board held their regular meeting on Tuesday evening of this week and engaged the teachers for the coming year. Professor Hartleb, our principal, will be with us again this year, and we certainly are glad to know it. Under his able management and by his hard and persistent labors, ably assisted by his competent corps of teachers, has our school risen from the little country school without a record to the best school in the county. This statement that our school is the best in the county is not an idle boast, but a fact that has been demonstrated, wherever the opportunity to demonstrate it presented itself.

Only recently our eight grade pupils passed examinations that averaged higher as a class than any other. Our pupils have won medals in competition with the school in Kankakee, and everywhere is the superiority of the Bradley schools shown. We doubt if the average parent gives the schools the thought and attention they are entitled to. They do not seem to realize the magnitude of the task our teachers have. Consider the fact that many nationalities are represented amongst the children in our schools, that a large number of them come from foreign parents and hear a foreign language spoken at home, and then consider that our teachers have brought these children up to the highest point of efficiency. Surely such work as this merits our heartiest praise, and we certainly owe a debt of gratitude to our worthy principal, Prof. Hartleb, and to the excellent corps of teachers who so nobly assisted him in bringing about such excellent results. We can pay this debt by showing our appreciation a word of encouragement goes a long way to lighten a burden of one working under a strain. There is another organization that should not be forgotten when we think of the work that our schools have done, and that is the board of education. The men making up the board have had many knotty problems to unravel and have unraveled them all with judgment and discretion. Instead of the single old frame building that we called the school house for many years, today we have in addition the two new brick buildings. Instead of the children playing in the streets as heretofore, now have the park in the rear of the school under way. Finances are not plentiful as they might be, and yet all these and many more improvements have been made. Only good judgment and ability on the part of the board could have accomplished this. Let us also credit these gentlemen with the good work they have done, they deserve credit. For the coming year things look bright for a good school year, here is a list of teachers that have charge. Principal, Prof. F. O. Hartleb; Asst. Principal, Miss Olive LeSage; 1st grade, Miss Helen Galbraith; Asst. 1st grade, Miss Estella Brouillette; 2d grade, Mrs. Josephine Cox; 3d grade, Miss Dora LeMontagne; 3d grade, Miss Josie Durning; 3d grade, Miss Grace Scroggins; 4th grade, Miss Gertrude Wilson; 4th grade, Miss Frances Mackintosh; 5th grade, Miss Margaret Fahey; 6th grade, Miss Nellie McCoy; 6th grade, Miss Josephine Martin; 7th grade, Miss Mary Evans; 8th grade, Miss Cora Scroggins.

Fire

The fire department was called out Wednesday about noon to extinguish a fire in some old abandoned coal shed just south of the C. O. & S. freight house. The sheds were practically destroyed when the fire department arrived. The origin of the fire is unknown.

T. Jackson of Chicago was a business caller here Wednesday.

HAD A MOTHER'S DAY

SERVICES HELD IN VARIOUS CHURCHES

Appropriate Services Held To Observe The Day Set Aside for Mothers

Mother's Day was appropriately celebrated by the different churches and lodges last Sunday and everywhere could be seen a carnation, the flower used to designate the day. At the Methodist church, Rev. Iver Johnson preached a mother's day sermon at the evening service to a large congregation. Rev. Codd of the United Brethren church preached a mother's sermon at the morning service and a sermon of special interest to fathers in the evening. The local lodge of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs went to Kankakee and joined the Howard lodge and attended services at the first M. E. church where an excellent sermon was delivered by Rev. Lewis.

Mrs. C. W. Reincke has just completed taking the school census of Bradley and it is surprising indeed note the number of children that go to making up our population. The census shows children under six years old boys 223 girls 218 total 441. Between the ages of 6 and 21 boys 416 girls 407 total 823. Total number of children under 21 boys 639 girls 625 total 1264. No race suicide here. A copy of this report will be sent to Teddy Roosevelt. Watch him smile.

Moving To Kankakee

Mat Palzer, who has been conducting the confectionary and ice cream parlor, opposite the school house for the past few years, will discontinue business at this place next week, and will move to Kankakee where he will engage in a similar business on Fifth Ave. in the building recently purchased by Anthony Beland. Mat and his wife have made many friends here during their stay amongst us, who will regret to see them leave. They will be especially missed by the school children, for their place was a second home for most of the kids. We wish Mr. and Mrs. Mat success in their new venture.

House Destroyed

The home of Mrs. Rantz on North Cleveland Ave. was totally destroyed by fire early Sunday morning. It is supposed that the fire originated from a defective flue. The fire department was called and made heroic efforts to save the building, but the flames had gained too much headway and could not be controlled. The loss is covered by insurance.

Picnic

The pupils of the eighth grade enjoyed a picnic on the banks of the beautiful Kankakee river Saturday afternoon, and enjoyed the afternoon immensely.

May Festival

The Bradley Girls Club will give a May Festival at the Bradley Park next Tuesday evening, and the affair promises to surpass anything of its kind ever seen here. The girls have worked hard for many weeks to make the festival a success, and will certainly be able to present one of the finest programs that is possible to present. The management of The David Bradley Mfg. Works plant have kindly donated the use of the park for the occasion. Everybody should arrange to have an open date for this evening and come out and enjoy the festival.

Moving Church

The work of moving the U. B. Church from Cleveland Ave. to Church Ave. is nearing completion, and within a few days the church will represent a neat appearance in its new location. The members of the congregation can well feel proud of the work they have done, for bringing the church to its new location is bound to result in increase membership.

The Club has arranged an excellent and interesting program. The Bradley Military Band will furnish music during the evening. Do not forget the date May 22nd, and help the girls along.

PAGEANT OF SPRING

GIVEN BY THE SCHOOL PUPILS

Cast of 250 Boys and Girls Will Take Part in This Pageant

The grade pupils and teachers are hard at work on the Spring Pageant to be given June 7 at the Bradley park.

The name is suggested of what is to be given. The cast consists of about 250 pupils representing fairies, grass, months, father, time, jackfruit, flowers, crows, robins, plowman and various other characters. A short synopsis follows—Old Father time changes the months of the year, and with jackfruit, north wind, snowflakes and the sun, winter passes.

Nineteen-seventeen a sunbonnet baby plants her garden in March. The south breeze, raindrops and sunbeams awaken the flowers. The Plowman and the crows look after the corn. The robins build their nests. Thus comes spring. With the arrival of May the Fairy Queen is crowned by spring and the fairies wind the Maypole.

Large Audience

Sam Nesbitt, the house mover made his appearance in our midst last Monday morning commencing work on the moving of the U. B. Church, and showed to a full size audience. About one half the women in Bradley were on the ground watching the performance. Many husbands came home for dinner and did the usual that is done when meals are not ready, but it availed them naught, for the ladies do not get the chance to see a church moved every day, and they were not to be denied the privilege when the occasion presented itself.

From The Army

FORT PREBLE, MAINE 5-6-17. DEAR FRIENDS:

I take the pleasure of writing you again to let you know that I am enjoying good health and hope when these few lines reaches you will find you all in first class condition. I have had it pretty easy this week no thing to do but drill two hours a day will go on duty again at 1:15 today, I am on guard, will come off Sunday and on guard Monday noon.

It seems rather odd that I do not see some of my home folks here if they have not enlisted yet I think that it is about time they were waking up and answering to their country's call to arms. I think that older citizens ought to wake up and give the younger ones a little more encouragement to enlist as we all ought to be ready to answer the call to arms for there is no true American that wants to sing the Star Spangled Banner with England's God Save Our King and by the help of the Almighty God on high I hope that it will never be. I have a little piece of poetry that I wish you people might read, it is as follows it is entitled WAR.

1. East to West, Ocean to Ocean. Shoulder to Shoulder in love and devotion. From Canada line to the mighty Rio Grande. In battle array the nation's stand. Cutlery our flag as the angels sound. That starry banner we will rally round. To arms to arms, the country calls today. At the Altar of Liberty our all we lay. War O loved, loved land of freedom might. To preserve thy honor true sons will fight. America's nation thy efforts must never.

Washington.—The administration war revenue bill as unanimously agreed upon by the house committee on ways and means and reported to the house Wednesday, is estimated to produce $1,800,000,000 a year.

If the framers overlooked any tangible article upon which it is possible to levy a tax, it was not because of any desire to do so.

Incomes, inheritances, business profits, amusements, liquors, tobacco, automobiles, moving pictures, baseball games, medicines, letter postage, transportation and jewelry are among some of the things which will feel the burden of taxation.

Tariff Will Yield $200,000,000.

The committee found it necessary to go in the tariff to make up a deficit of something like $300,000,000. This was done by an agreement to a tax of 10 per cent upon all articles now on the free list and 10 per cent additional upon all articles now upon the dutiable list.

Income Tax Increases as Made Public by Chairman Kitchin follow:

Taxes for the year ending December 31, 1916, have been increased exactly one-third. These taxes are due in June.

Exemption limits have been reduced to $1,000 for single men and $2,000 for married men.

The normal tax on new classes of incomes to be taxed, is as follows: $1,000 and $3,000 for single men and between $2,000 and $4,000 for married men, has been fixed at 2 per cent.

Normal taxes on all incomes formerly taxed, those above $3,000 for single men and $4,000 for married men, have been increased from 2 to 4 per cent.

Increases in All Surtaxes.

The increased surtaxes are as follows:

$5,000 to 7,500	1 per cent
7,500 to 10,000	2 per cent
10,000 to 12,500	4 per cent

20,000 to 40,000	10 per cent
40,000 to 60,000	12 per cent
60,000 to 80,000	14 per cent
80,000 to 100,000	16 per cent
100,000 to 150,000	18 per cent
150,000 to 200,000	20 per cent

250,000 to 300,000	28 per cent
300,000 to 500,000	30 per cent
500,000 and upwards	37 per cent

The inheritance tax starts with one-half of 1 per cent on the basic tax on all estates of $50,000 or less. The remainder of the schedule is applied to the various excesses in graduation as follows:

Inheritance Tax Scale.

SEA FIGHT EPIC IN ANIMALS

Two British Destroyers Defeat Six Enemy Ships in English Channel.

JOHN PAUL JONES THRILLER

Fight Man to Man with Cutlasses and Pistols as Boats Are Locked Together—Will Live Long in Naval History.

London.—Two British destroyers on duty in the English Channel off Dover on the night of April 20 came upon a flotilla of six German destroyers. There ensued an encounter which will live long in the history of naval engagements.

German destroyers were torpedoed and rammed; every gun aboard the combatants was working, sweeping the decks and tearing gaps in the sides of the opposing craft. There was the locking together of a British and a German destroyer, and the men fought furiously in a hand-to-hand battle.

German seamen of a rammed destroyer climbed aboard one of the British boats, and a midshipman fought them back with an automatic pistol. They were killed or driven again to the sea by British jacksies who came to the midshipman's aid.

Cutlasses and Bayonets.

The British destroyers were the Swift and the Broke, and although they received many wounds they returned to port.

The story of the engagement, compiled from the accounts of officers and men, has been made public in the form of an official report. It is an exciting and graphic story of a boarding encounter with cutlasses and bayonets, recalling the days when wooden warships came together and the men fought on the decks.

The British destroyer leaders, Swift and Broke, or night patrol, were steaming a westerly course. It was intensely dark, but calm. The Swift sighted the enemy destroyer. It missed a number of shots through the German line unscathed and, in turning, nearly torpedoed another boat in the enemy line.

Again the Swift dashed at the leader, which again eluded it and fled, with the Swift in pursuit.

Broke Bags Another foe.

In the meantime the Broke had launched a torpedo at the second boat in the line, which hit with a mark, and then opened fire with every available gun. The remaining German boats were stalking furiously for full speed.

The Broke's commander swung round to port and rammed the third target. Locked together thus the two boats fought a desperate hand-to-hand conflict. The Broke swept the enemy's deck at point-blank range with every gun from main armament to pom-pom, Maxim, rifle and pistol.

Two other German destroyers attacked and poured a devastating fire on the Broke, whose foremost gun crews were reduced from eighteen to six men. Midshipman Donald Gyles, in the meantime, kept all the foremost guns in action, he himself assisting the depleted crews to load.

Meets foe Single Handed.

While he was thus employed, a number of frenzied Germans swarmed up over the Broke's forecastle out of the rammed destroyer, and finding themselves amid the blinding flashes of forecaine guns, swept aft in a shouting mob.

The midshipman, amid the dead and wounded of his own gun crews, and half blinded by blood, met the onset single handed with an automatic pistol. He was grappled by a German who tried to wrest the revolver away. Cutlasses and bayonets being among the British equipment in anticipation of such an event, the German was promptly bayoneted by Seaman Inglis.

The remainder of the invaders, except two who feigned death, were driven over the side, the two being taken prisoner.

Two minutes after ramming, the Broke stretched itself free from its adversary and turned to ram the last of the three remaining German boats. It failed in this object, but in swinging around succeeded in hitting the boat's consort on the stern with a torpedo.

Hotly engaged with these two fleeing destroyers, the Broke attempted to follow the Swift in the direction it was last seen, but a shot struck the Broke's boiler room, disabling its main engine.

The enemy then disappeared in the darkness. The Broke, altering its course, headed in the direction of a destroyer, which a few minutes later was seen to be heavily afire and whose crew, on sighting the British destroyer, sent up shouts for mercy. The Broke, regardless of the danger from a possible explosion of the magazine, and the German seamen redoubled their shouts of "Save! Save!" and then unexpectedly opened fire.

The Broke, being out of control, was unable to maneuver to contacts used; but succeeded in trenchantly with four rounds; then, to insure its own safety, torpedoed the German amidships.

Swift Seeks New Quarry.

Meanwhile the Swift continued its pursuit, but slight injuries which it had received earlier in the action prevented it from making full speed, so it abandoned the chase and sought fresh quarry.

Sighting the outline of a stationary destroyer from which shouts were heard, the Swift approached warily with cutlasses fixed to its bows. It was the destroyer which had already been rammed by the Broke. The Germans were believing "We surrender!"

"Feigning treachery," the Swift waited, and presented the destroyer head on and sank stern first, the crew jumping into the water.

As no other enemy was visible, and the action, which had lasted approximately 15 minutes, appeared to be over, the Swift searched on its search-lights and lowered boats to rescue the swimmers.

Those who remained of the crews of the Swift and the Broke, after exchanging details of the action, cheered each other until they were hoarse.

The British casualties are set down as comparatively slight, and the spirit of the wounded is illustrated by the conduct of the Broke's helmsman, Seaman William Brown, who, though hit four times by shell fragments, remained at the wheel throughout the action and finally only betrayed the fact that he was wounded by reporting to his captain, "I'm going off duty now, sir," and fainted.

A number of the wounded only presented themselves in the sick bay the following day, one stoker giving the surgeon the ingenious excuse, "I was too busy clearing up the rubbish on the stokers' mess deck."

The destroyer Broke was under command in the naval battle of Commander Edward R. G. B. Evans, who was awarded the command of Scott's antarctic expedition.

SEES END OF WAR IN EIGHT MONTHS

American Official From Germany Says Conditions There Are Very Bad.

300 U-BOATS NOW IN USE

Government is Able to Build Ten a Month—Kaiser Is Suffering From Bright's Disease—Crown Prince Is Hated by Germans.

New York.—The war will be over within eight months because of the economic conditions in Germany, according to an American official who has just returned to this country after residence in Warsaw, Hamburg, Frankfurt and other German cities for some years.

"At the beginning, in August, 1914," he said, "the German people were contented. They had a good winter, a good spring and a good summer. In three months and then take Brazil and any other countries in South America she needed, regardless of the Monroe doctrine or what the United States might say in the matter. The setback given to the army at the battle of the Marne caused some feeling of pessimism in Germany until the hopes of the people were raised once more to the zenith by the German victory at Tannenberg and the Russian army. Then the government made another big blunder by not making a separate peace with Russia, which could have been done then if the Germans had been the right way about it and returned Poland."

"Only old men, women and boys are seen in the streets of the German cities performing the labor that was formerly done by the men who have been sent to the front. There is scarcely anything to eat, and what food can be had is of very poor quality."

"Each February the government has admitted that the crops of the preceding year were poor, but the coming season would prove to be a bumper. It is the same this year, but the people have lost hope."

Soldiers Gaunt and Hungry.

"There will no lack of money while the printing presses can turn out bills from a mark upward in value, but if we do not purchase food, especially fat because it cannot be had. There is no lubricating oil to use on the trains or for machinery in the factories."

"When the officers and soldiers receive from the trenches on leave during the first year of the war they looked strong and healthy, well set-up military men, full of fight. The lack of proper food and the hopelessness of the war outlook has had its influence on them, and they look now gaunt and haggard and broken in health from the want of proper nourishment."

"The Kaiser is a very sick man and will not live to see the end of this war. In the opinion of the officials who are in close touch with him. He is a sufferer from Bright's disease, and the tremendous strain of the war combined with German internal troubles has broken him down."

"The German people blame the military party, headed by the crown prince, for bringing on the war more than they do the emperor. After the regatta at Kiel the Kaiser went away to Scandinavia and the crown prince returned to Berlin the affair was so cut and dried that he could not have prevented the war if he had wanted to. The crown prince proved that he was not a military genius by the hash he made of things at Verdun, and the people hate him for the awful sacrifice of the German troops. It is the general opinion, away from Berlin, that he will never succeed in his throne."

BLACKBIRD IS MASCOT

Playing at being the kaiser, that was what the polli said he was doing, but the only Kaiser, trunk visible is the hat, and there the blackbird mascot of the regiment gives it its effectiveness.

Bremen Captured by British.

With regard to the conflicting reports regarding the merchant submarines Bremen and Deutschland, the American official said that he was positive of the reports and that neither of them had been sunk.

"The Bremen was captured by the British navy," he continued, "and is at Milford Haven, South Wales. The Deutschland is safe at Bremen and will remain there until the end of the war. She left Bremen for New York and put back five days later on account of some accident to her machinery. I sent several cards in the special mail to my friends in America as souvenirs, which were all returned to me later. Several bankers and other business men in Berlin and Frankfurt whom I know and their mail returned from the Deutschland."

"When I left Germany in March the navy department had 300 submarines ranging from 150 tons to 1,500 tons, and were turning them out at the rate of ten a month at the maximum. The largest type of U-boat, the U-53 which visited Newport, takes fully six months to build. Smaller submarines ranging from 400 to 600 tons are the type that are being constructed chiefly for work round the British and French coasts as they are more easily handled than the bigger undersea fighters."

"I do not know how many the British navy has captured, but the last figures that I heard before leaving was that there were usually 60 submarines out on cruise at one time and as they return or are captured others are dispatched from Kiel in their place."

"The German fleet received a severe handling in the Skagerrak fight and lost far more ships than the admiralty admitted."

Othello, Wash.—A ton of potatoes, packed in 40 packages, was received by H. J. Tipton, the mail recently. The shipment came from Marengo and the total postage was $21.90.

The consignee of the potatoes is postmaster at Marengo. BROKEN DOWN IN HEALTH

Woman Tells How $5 Worth of Pinkham's Compound Made Her Well.

Lima, Ohio.—"I was all broken down in health from a displacement. One of my lady friends came to me and she advised me to commence taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sensitive Wash. I began taking your remedies and took $5.00 worth and in two months was a well woman after three doctors said I never would stand up straight again. I was a widow for seven years and I recommended the Vegetable Compound to every woman I met to take before birth and afterwards, and they all got along so nicely that it surely is a godsend to suffering women. If women wish to write to me I will be delighted to answer them."

—Mrs. JENNIE MOYER, 342 E. North St., Lima, Ohio.

Women who suffer from displacements, weakness, irregularities, nervousness, backache, or bearing-down pains, need the tonic properties of the roots and herbs contained in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Luminous Radium Paint.

A luminous compound containing radium has been developed by an American manufacturer for use in locating electric-light switches in the dark, marking watch dials, etc. In powder form the compound is of about the same fineness as ordinary talcum powder, and is nearly as white, says Electrical Merchandising. This powder may be mixed with adhesives or varnishes and used as a paint. The compound is also furnished in flexible sheets which can be cut and shaped as desired, and can be applied to unveneer or broken surfaces. This form can be used in making self-contained brass buttons to glue on electric switches already installed and for manufacturers to fit into the hard rubber portions of new switch buttons. The enamel is said to be waterproof and immune to damage from vibration, and may be applied to watch dials and indicating devices of all sorts.

PRUDENCE OF THE PARSONAGE by ETHEL HUESTON ILLUSTRATED BY W.C. TANNER

Mr. Starr's heart sinks when he discovers Jerrold Harmer and Prudence exchanging tender glances and soft words.

CHAPTER IX—Continued. He went upstairs to obey, with despair in his heart.

"I'll begin my book right away," Lark was saying. She and Carol were in the dining room madly polishing their Sunday shoes.

"I'll have his automobile break down in the middle of the road, and Prudence can run into it."

"While the girls, bubbling over with excitement, were dressing for the great event, Mr. Starr went downstairs to sit with Prudence.

"Lark and I are almost as good as Fairy's powder, father," she said. "We feel that we simply must on an occasion like this."

"I don't want you to," was the prompt reply. "Yes, it is very nice, you know, wearing it. I'll get it out of the trunk myself, and send Fairy down to help you."

"You must have found it rather a long walk," he began tentatively, his eyes on the young man's face.

"Yes, I think my feet are a little blistered. I have walked farther than that many times, but I am out of practice now."

"How long did it take you coming from Des Moines to Mount Mark?" queried Carol in a subdued and respectful voice.

For a moment he was puzzled. Then he burst out laughing. "I am afraid we had too much to talk about this morning."

"The automobile," gasped Carol, with a triumphant look at Lark.

"No, I remember now. We were talking of other things all the time."

"I am sure he is all right, father. I—I will be nice to him, won't you?"

"Listen, girl, I want to hear," whispered Prudence. And she smiled as she heard her father's cordial voice.

"I'll go to the door," said Father Starr, and Prudence looked at him beseechingly.

"I am sure he is all right, father. I—I will be nice to him, won't you?"

"Oh, yes, I am," protested Prudence with strange shyness.

"They all laughed at that, and then he walked her out-side doors. Then Fairy got up, laughing."

"I don't want you to," was the prompt reply. "Yes, it is very nice, you know, wearing it."

"You must have found it rather a long walk," he began tentatively, his eyes on the young man's face.

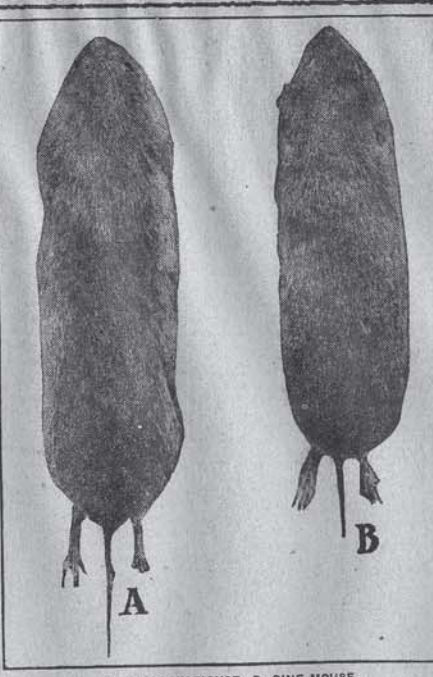

"Yes, I think my feet are a little blistered. I have walked farther than that many times, but I am out of practice now."

"How long did it take you coming from Des Moines to Mount Mark?" queried Carol in a subdued and respectful voice.

"Do you believe in long engagements between lovers?" asked the young couple.

"Yes," he said. "I did not walk from Des Moines to Mount Mark."

DESTROYING RODENT PESTS ON THE FARM

A—MEADOW MOUSE; B—PINE MOUSE.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture. Several groups, or genera, of short-tailed field mice occur in the United States and Canada.

Pine mice, like meadow mice, burrow underground, where their tunnels are similar in extent and intricacy to those of their natural habitat in the woods.

For poisoning meadow mice on large areas the following methods are recommended: Dry-Grain Formula—Mix thoroughly one ounce powdered strychnine (alkaloid), one ounce powdered bicarbonate of soda, and one-eighth ounce (or less) of saccharine.

White-footed mice, or deer mice, are present in almost all parts of the country. They feed on grain in some extent, they rarely are present on cultivated lands in sufficient numbers to do serious harm.

Wild Horses Could Not Break This Sidway
 Three years ago I bought a Sidway Carriage and it was in constant use every day until last June, when it was run over by a runaway team; the carriage was not broken, only badly bent.
 Now that I have another daughter four months old, I am in need of a carriage. The carriage I have now could be fixed, without a doubt, and there is no one around here that does that kind of work, my husband advised me to write to the factory and see what you would do.
 MRS. LESTER E. ONYAN,
 Clinton, N. Y.
 To tell the truth, we would not have believed it ourselves. We know the Sidway is built as well as we know how to build it; we know the remarkable record of the over-a-million collapsibles we have built; and we know that all the repairs which accumulate from our present output of over a thousand carriages a day are not sufficient to keep one man employed constantly.
 But we never guaranteed that a team of horses could run over them. Nor do we suggest that your customers submit the Sidway to such a test.
 However, the incident proves conclusively that the Sidway will stand up under as severe usage as any other present output of over a thousand carriages a day are not sufficient to keep one man employed constantly.

Some people can live without money. The angels in heaven, you know. But a poor old country editor Can't get by without having the dough.
 Margaret had been campin' in the Rockies, so she had not seen Anita all summer. She held her friend's hand in a long clasp when they met in a tea-room.
 "It's thrilling to find you wearing this ring," she said, gazing at a glowing jewel on Anita's third finger. "It must be tremendously exciting to be engaged."
 "Since you are the trusted friend of my youth, I'll confess to you that I haven't found being engaged nearly so exciting as you might imagine," returned Anita in an enigmatic tone.
 "Why, isn't everything all right asked Margaret, anxiously. "Are you and Ned happy?"
 "Well, I believe Ned is happy."
 "But, you, Anita? I thought of course, you must be in the seventh heaven of bliss."
 "At first I did soar about as quite a dizzy height, but that was before I discovered that I had a dangerous rival."
 "What do you mean? Who is she?"
 "It's a game. It's golf."
 "Folks," you made me quite nervous for a moment. I might have known you weren't serious."
 "I am serious. It's no joke when one's fiance is a golf fiend. When you get a man, dear, choose one that doesn't know a tee from a bunker."
 "Well, it's pretty nice for a man to love outdoor sports. I should think you like to have Ned play golf. It's splendid exercise for any one who works in an office. It makes a man eat and sleep so well."
 "There is no doubt about it making Ned sleep well. That's the trouble. He comes to our house every evening and if we don't go out somewhere we usually sit on the porch. At least I sit on the porch, but Ned sooner or later falls into the hammock and takes a nap. At first I reproached myself for being so dull and uninteresting that poor Ned couldn't keep awake in my company. I began to wonder, since I bored him to slumber every evening, if it wouldn't be best for me to break the engagement. But one evening when he told me that he rose regularly every morning - at four o'clock to play golf in the park, I realized that probably after all I did not put him to sleep."
 "Didn't you show your disapproval of his getting up at such an unearthly hour that he couldn't stay awake in the evening?"
 "I tried to, but any time I mentioned it to him, he led up to a criticism, he would begin at once to describe some wonderful new strokes he was practicing, or tell me what a good score he had made that morning, and I hadn't the heart to throw cold water on his enthusiasm. But I did determine to give him a practical lesson."
 "Two nights ago, when as usual after a little visit with me he had slipped off into dreamland, I stole quietly away from the porch and went across the street and told Jimmy Dolson that I had come over to accept one of his numerous invitations to try his new car, if he happened to be taking it out. Jimmy is an old friend and neighbor, and though he looked a little surprised, he remarked that he had been wishing that he could take me for a ride."
 "So away we went. I couldn't enjoy myself, however, for I was sure Ned would be awfully vexed when he awoke and found me gone, particularly if he found out I was out with Jimmy, the warmth of whose friendship Ned greatly overestimates. I felt horrible all the time, and I delighted at our house with a bad conscience, for I felt that I hadn't really treated Ned right."
 "Was he angry?" asked Margaret.
 "Not at all, my dear. He hadn't missed me, necessarily, for he was snoring when I stepped on to the porch. Then I was the one who was vexed. I threw a traveling rug over him and went to bed."
 Passing It On.
 A Sunday school teacher, after conducting a lesson on the story of "Jacob's Ladder," concluded by saying: "Now, is there any little girl or boy who would like to ask a question about the lesson?"
 Little Susie looked puzzled for a moment, and then raised her hand.
 "A question, Susie?" asked the teacher.
 "I would like to know," said Susie, "if the angels have wings why did they have to climb up the ladder?"
 The teacher thought for some moments, and then, looking about the class, asked:
 "Is there any little boy who would like to answer Susie's question?"
 What He Said.
 Uncle Henry Barnes was a mild man, but when John Hagland deliberately chided him out of $500 even his patient spirit was ruffled.
 "Sometimes," he remarked to his wife, "I'm going to tell that man what I think of him."
 "One day he came home highly salted with whiskey."
 "I saw John Hagland today, and I told him straight out what I thought of him," he said.
 "What did you say?" asked his wife.
 "I told him I thought he was a very unreasonable man."

 Some persons are so lazy, and at the same time so patriotic, they will wait until late in the fall, when the flies begin to get drowsy, to start swatting them.
 Nearly every town has a man who is always present at church and at other public gatherings, when large sums of money must be raised to buy a carpet or an organ or to build an addition, and in a loud voice he makes a handsome little donation to the fund-and then never pays it.
 We used to know a fellow who could sit down and eat fourteen hard-boiled eggs, six boxes of sardines, five or six onions, a dish of raw cucumbers and finish up on ice cream. And then, after taking all those chances, a calf ran over him and broke his neck.
 Singing to a baby is said to be a good way to get it to sleep. It has never become known just what there is about this noise that causes the infant to close its eyes and slumber. It cannot be that the little one enjoys the tune. If it did, it would show its interest by remaining awake.

Stay Off Rear Platform

Passengers on many of the roads have been instructed not to ride on platforms of trains or stand in the vestibules of the coaches. They are liable to be shot by some of the state militia or the railroad guards who are on watch at the various places that might be damaged by an explosion caused by some alien enemy. No passengers will be permitted on the observation platforms of the limited trains. Orders have been issued by the Chicago & Eastern Illinois and by the Wabash Railroad, and probably will be by other roads in the near future. The plan of using the rear platform to drop a bomb upon a railroad structure or in a tunnel might be successfully carried out by an alien enemy, after all other means of gaining access to a bridge has failed and the authorities are not taking any chances.

Boys With Air Rifles Must Have License

BLOOMINGTON, ILL.—Illinois game wardens are receiving instructions for the protection of birds. It is illegal to kill any birds except the English sparrow, crow, blackbird, blue jay, chicken hawk or porcupine.

Even if hunters seek only birds which may be legally killed, they must be provided with licenses. Those who use revolvers to kill birds are subject to an additional fine on the ground of carrying concealed weapons. Air rifles among boys are becoming numerous, inviting danger to persons within range, so wardens are asked to arrest all persons carrying such weapons who fail to take out a hunting license.

With the return of the birds from the south, hunters have been active in seeking to kill them and wardens are urged to redouble their vigilance.

What Well Dressed Women Will Wear

The style of coiffure that is most widely popular is shown in one of its several developments in the accompanying picture. It is a modification of the "Bobby" style which Mrs. Vernon Castle is said to have originated, and whether she created it or not, it has been at least well demonstrated and advertised by this famous dancer.

The "Bobby" coiffure is less becoming when it is dressed with the hair drawn back, leaving the forehead entirely uncovered, than in the development of it shown in the picture. Here the hair is loosely waved and brought forward, so that it partly covers the brow. At the sides it is pinned with small, invisible pins, so that it will lie on the cheek and cover the ears.

Where the forehead is left uncovered, more prettiness is sacrificed to something a little better. This arrangement is more severe but interestingly refining in its effect on young, round faces. It is not a coiffure for faces that are not youthful, but a trace of it is found in those styles which have been brought out for matrons. In all of them the hair is waved, and neatness above all else the effect to be desired, but for older women the hair is high. Few hair ornaments are worn in these more elaborate coiffures, but in very short, soft curls catch the eye—and please it—in nearly every one of them.

In coiffures that follow the style pictured, the average woman has enough hair to make a success of it without any acquired locks. This may be one of the reasons why the style is so popular. Nearly all the hair is massed at the side and about the forehead, while the ends are tucked under and concealed in the most inconspicuous way possible. The aim is to suggest the bobbed hair cut worn by little children. The very latest arrival shows this style with the forehead bare except for a single little curled lock pasted flat to it, with bandoline, at the center. This instantly brings to mind "there was a little girl who had a little curl," etc., and perhaps it was intended to do just this.

Canadian Farmers Profit From Wheat

The war's devastation of European crops has caused an unusual demand for grain from the American Continent. The people of the world must be fed and wheat near $2 a bushel offers great profits to the farmer. Canada's invitation is therefore especially attractive. She wants settlers to make money and happy, prosperous homes for themselves by helping her raise immense wheat crops.

Mixed farming so profitable an industry as raising the excellent grasses full of nutrition are the only ones required for best or dairy purposes, at schools, churches, markets everywhere.

There is no extra expense to replace the many young men who have volunteered for the war. The Government is willing to furnish the grain. Write for literature and particulars as to reduced railway rates to the destination, W. M. G. A., Canada, or ANY CORN LIFTS OUT, DOESN'T HURT A BIT!

Sore corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn, can harmlessly be lifted right out with the fingers if you apply upon the corn a few drops of frezone, says a Cincinnati authority. For little cost one can get a small bottle of frezone at any drug store, which will positively rid one's feet of every corn or callus without pain.

This simple drug dries the moment it is applied and does not even irritate the surrounding skin while applying it or afterwards.

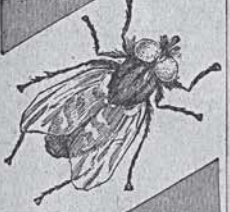

This announcement will interest many of our readers. If your druggist hasn't any frezone tell him to surely get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house.—adv.

Government Issues Warning Against Fly Poisons

Following is an extract from "The Transmission of Disease by Flies," Supplement, No. 29 to the Public Health Reports, April, 1916.

"Of other fly poisons mentioned, mention should be made, merely for a purpose of identification, of those composed of arsenic. Fatal cases of poisoning of children through the use of such compounds are far too frequent, and owing to the resemblance of arsenical poisoning to summer diarrhea and cholera infantum, it is believed that the cases reported do not, by any means, comprise the total. Arsenical fly-killing devices must be rated as extremely dangerous, and should never be used, even if other measures are not at hand."

106 fly poisoning cases have been reported by the press within the last three years. As stated above this number is but a fraction of the number. Protect your children by using the safe, efficient, non-poisonous fly catcher

Return of the Lace Jabot

After a rather long period of retirement the lace jabot has returned from the realm of forgotten finery. It made a quiet and almost unheralded entry a few weeks ago and immediately achieved a decisive hit with thousands of devotees of uncovered throats.

"Today it is the darling of fashion. The 'stock' jabot with high, stock collar and falling flounce or cascade of net-top lace, has reached the pinnacle of success and brought all of its kindred into the limelight.

Not having your jabots for so long, we appreciate just how enchanting they are, but we're already prepared for the extravagantly high prices that are asked for even the simpler styles. From two to five dollars is demanded for well-made jabots of fine net or good net-top laces. The cheaper nets and laces appear to lose their sheerness and to thicken up with washing. When this happens their charm is gone.

It is not the price of lace but the price of labor that places jabots in the class of expensive luxuries. Women who sew for themselves can cut the cost in half by making their neckwear at home. A wide net flouncing bought in the length required for one jabot, will make two. Those of plain net are prettily finished with hemstitched hems, picot edges or with tatted or very narrow, fine crochet lace.

Crepe gazette and all-over laces, finished with hemstitching, make successful jabots and narrow tucks provide as pretty decoration as any for them. A good example of a lace jabot is shown in the picture and its construction is very simple. A straight piece of the lace edge forms the stock, with turn-over at the top, and the flounce is laid in plaits and sewed to it. A narrow lace finishes the lower edge of the stock and the ends of the net-top laces. There are any number of ways for arranging the fullness of the jabot and attaching it to the stock.

I had severe pains in the small of my back and the kidney secretions were scanty and otherwise disordered. My heart was affected and gradually the pains got worse, extending into my right hip. I couldn't sleep well and became all run down. Nothing helped me until I took Doan's Kidney Pills. They entirely rid me of the trouble and I am glad to say that the cure has lasted."	RESTORED TO HEALTH. Mrs. Ella M. Pinckard, 28 Schrader St., Liberty, Mo., says: "I had a terrible pain in my back and the least move caused knife-like twinges to dart all through my body. My kidneys didn't act as they should and my body became badly swollen. I doctored, but wasn't helped until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. When I had taken six boxes, I was free from kidney trouble. My kidneys now act properly, the swellings have disappeared and I feel better in every way."
