HISTORY OF BRADLEY-BOURBONNAIS COMMUNITY HIGH SCHOOL

The present Bradley school was established in 1895. Prior to this time the public school for Bradley was located in Bourbonnais.

In 1890 a private school was conducted here by Mr. A. Seaman. School was conducted in an old store building on South Washington Avenue; later in the Methodist Church, and the Woodman Building until 1894, when a unit of our present school building was constructed.

The first frame school building was remodeled in 1898. In 1911 an adjoining brick building was constructed and in 1913 was increased to its present size.

The first high school was established in 1898 by Professor Sutton but was discontinued in 1903. Established again in 1909, by Professor Hartleb. there was a graduating class of two students. The enrollment steadily increased to the present student body numbering 210 and a graduating class of 45.

The faculty and curriculum steadily increased so that now they are on a parity with schools that are much larger and better equipped. The Bradley-Bourbonnais Community High School has always been fortunate in securing a superior faculty that has advanced the school to its present scholastic standing.

The student body of today, as well as those of the past, is also to be complimented. All are children of working parents who realize the necessity for better education and have made many sacrifices to attain this goal.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

In 1938, eighty-six green Freshmen began a flight, laden with hopes of success. For a trustworthy pilot, they elected Lloyd McCleary; co-pilot, Orville Bennett; the crew—Secretary John McCue and Treasurer Howard Larson. As chief operator, Mr. Arthur kept the class to its course. We soon settled down to our every-day assignments and tasks.

In our Sophomore year, we elected John McCue, pilot; Walter Johnson, co-pilot; Bill Lucas, keeper of the records, and Thomas McCoy, keeper of the funds. We had dwindled to seventy in number, but still comprised a large portion of the enrollment of B. B. C. H. S. We sponsored a few movies to start our "bank roll rolling", and gave some parties for our own amusement.

At last, we reached the "stratosphere"—we were Juniors! Darlene Marquis, John McCue, Irene Beach, and Howard Larson took over the ship, which carried fifty-eight passengers through the year 1940-41. Miss Kuehne assisted Mr. Arthur in keeping us correctly on our course, which was especially difficult that year due to the heavy responsibility of the Junior-Senior Prom. Means of making money was our first problem. Everyone had to make a small sacrifice out of his weekly allowance to pay his dues, but the class was supported. We sold candy, pop, and ice cream at the football and basketball games. Later in the year we raffled a turkey, sponsored skating parties, sold pencils, and sponsored a Junior Class Play, "Linda Lou". For the Prom we tried a new system—each Junior and Senior was permitted to invite one outside guest to the dance after the banquet, an innovation which proved quite satisfactory.

We've reached our destination—we're Seniors now! And what pleasure it is! Lloyd McCleary, who piloted the ship through its first year, was honored with the class presidency again. Dolores Martin, vice-president, seems capable of taking over for him whenever the occasion arises. Irene Beach has had so much experience with the minutes that she is again secretary, and Clifford Coash has been chosen treasurer.

Some of the boys who have remained outstanding in athletics during their high school careers are Roman Smietanski, Clifford Coash, Dick Winters, Victor Wasetis, Walter Johnson, Leonard Bujnowski, John McCue, Warren VanKuren, and Howard Larson.

Our last year has been a busy one—annual pictures, class rings, commencement announcements, all of the things that mean that we are about to come in for a perfect three-point landing with forty-five: aboard, the largest class yet to graduate from B. B. C. H. S.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

I, Betty Neumann, shall hereby endeavor to bring to you "the class of 1942", as best my imagination will allow, ten years hence:

I was traveling by plane from New York City to Florida, and who should be on that plane but three of my old classmates whom I hadn't seen since 1942. I assure you that I was very much surprised to find the pilot Howard Larson, and then to hear a rough, deep voice say, "Well, well, if it isn't 'Farmer Red' Marquis," That was none other than Bill Mulligan, the candidate for our next Illinois senator, addressing Darlene Marquis, the stewardess.

Talking to Bill, I found that his secretary is Renetta Bumpus, and her best girl friend, Maxine Palmer, is happily married and living in Texas. Bill also informed me that Lloyd McCleary owns several large drug stores in Chicago, and his assistant is Ronald Kohan.

Darlene was telling me about Frank Richmond's success In New York as a photographer for the famous magazine, "Beauty" and that Mary Margaret Mayotte and Dorothy Stoltz are his best models. Beatrice Green is a successful business woman, but still has her trouble between that certain Bradley boy and Roman Smietanski, now coach of Bradley-Bourbonnais Community High School. Oh, by the way, Bradley is now one of the largest industrial centers in Illinois. Clifford "Tiffie" Coash and Dick Winters are both in Hollywood making another one of those famous pictures, and Leonard "Bugs" Bujnowski is running one of the classic rote clubs out there, with Dorothy Kinder and Warren Vankuren as his best entertainers.

After landing, I had a long talk with Howard. He told me about several Other classmates: Louise Evans, living on a large dairy farm; Norma Walters, a stewardess, but at present taking a vacation in Hawaii; Verietta Lietz, owning one of the smartest dress shops in Bradley; Bernice Altenbrunn and Louise Raines, teaching at Bradley High; and Bill Lucas, manager of a large A. P. store on good old Broadway. John McCue is editor of a large, daily new paper in Bradley. Darlene Lambert is teaching English at the University of Chicago. I was surprised to hear (as you all will be, I'm sure) that Jean LaGessee and Dolores Martin entered the convent.

After receiving all this information, I went to my hotel and there was¹ Mark Moore, manager. He told me that one of the best Wild West shows was in town, so, for amusement, I strolled down the street towards it. Of all the surprises. this was indeed the best, for the company belongs to none other than Kenny Hayes; Irene Beach is his star entertainer; Walter Johnson is one of the downs; and Francis Schultz is a singing cowboy!

After several months in Florida, I took a short vacation and decided to fly back to visit Bradley. Here's what I found: Edith Rankin is now Mrs. Pat Hayes and Lenore Amiot is Mrs. F. Legris; Reva Schultz is head floor lady at McClellans'; Naomi Hack is head librarian in Bradley's beautiful new library; and Junior Osenga operates a service garage, one of the best. I visited with nearly all of my old classmates who have made their homes in Bradley, except Rita Legris, Mardeile Hackley, and Lorraine Sniegowski. They had left on a trip to California just the day before I arrived. Bonna Chafey is traveling around the world with her wealthy husband from the city, and Harriet Bilyard and Virginia Travis operate a very successful tearoom. Last, and most astounding, Vic Wasetis is principal of B. B. C. H. S.

We couldn't find one ideal senior, so we put some of them together, and here is the result.

Senior Dream Girl		Senior Romeo
Mary Margaret Mayotte	Hair	"Smitty"
Darlene Marquis	Eyes	"Tiffie"
Betty Neumann	Nose	Dick Winters
Beatrice Green	Lips	Bill MulligaA
Dolores Martin	Teeth	Kenny Hay
Dorothy Stoltz	Figure	Vic Wasetis
Lenore Amiot	Posture	"Bugs"
Verletta Lietz	Complexion

SENIOR CLASS WILL

As the graduating class of 1942 takes off on the first lap of its flight into the future, a small white silk parachute floats earthward, landing at the feet of Mr. Jesse Wilder. Fastened to the "chute" is a large red, white and blue envelope addressed to "The Senior Class of 1943". Upon investigation, the envelope reveals its contents.

We, the Senior Class of 1942, Bradley-Bourbonnais Community High School, City of Bradley, County of Kankakee, State of Illinois, being of sound mind and memory do will and bequeath. in this our last will and testament, the following:

I, Leonard Buinowski, my ability to talk myself out of the doghouse to Elmer Jamnick.

I, Tiffie Coash, my charm and wavy hair to Jesse Wilder.

I, Walter Johnson, my muscular frame and line-pounding ability to Kenny LaFine.

I, Maxine Palmer, my love for the army, to Juanita Pray.

I, Gerrit Osenga, my perseverance in studies to Harry Tighe.

I, Francis Schultz, surrender my bashful glances to Richard Kinneman.

I, Vic Wasetis, my bookkeeping knowledge to Don Martin.

We, Bonna Chafey and Louise Evans, our library work to Josephine and Irene Tomaszewski.

I, Jean LaGesse, the ability to assume an innocent expression in time of trouble, to Donna Chafey.

I, Kenneth Hayes, my romantic qualities to Robert Morris, hoping he'll use them cautiously.

I, Dorothy Stoltz, my personality smile to Mary Wilson.

I, Dolores Martin, my cheerful disposition and happy-go-lucky manner to Violet Hoehn.

I, Dick Winters, my contagious laugh to Stanley Bujnowski.

I, Warren VanKuren, my position as speaker-across-quiet-study-halls, to Margie Vickery.

I, John McCue, my s!oN,v, calculating drawl to Harold Knickerbocker.

I, Verletta Lietz, the duty of causing excitement in chemistry to Theresa Zasada.

I, Bernice Altenbrunn, my industriousness to Isabelle Richmond.

I, Darlene Marquis, my winning smile and contagious laugh, to Lorraine Marlaire.

I, Bill Mulligan, my marksmanship with erasers, to Bob Bell.

1. Frank Richmond, my red hair to Janice Hasemeyer, so that she may become a strawberry blonde.

- I, Edith Rankin, my ability to oversleep to Beatrice Schrader, that she may not become too brilliant.
- I, Virginia Travis, my typing ability to Betty Hertz.
- I, Bill Lucas, my shy way of refusing to answer English IV questions, to George Legris.
- I, Mary Margaret Mayotte, my fashion sense to Beulah Bilyard.
- I, Lloyd McCleary, my claim to clear thinking and my bowling, to Alice Friedew old.
- I, Roman Smietanski, my athletic energy to Ray Ignatowicz.
- I, Reva Schultz, my quiet, demure manner to Lucille Jent.
- I, Norma Walters, to Marie Falkenhan, the pleasant duty of disturbing Mr. Bergquist's United States history class.
- I, Renetta Bumpus, my giggles to Isabelle Hoverstock.
- I, Ronald Kohan, my irresistibility to Ronald Arseneau.
- I, Lenore Amiot, my creativeness and ingenuity to Doris Stokes.
- I, Howard Larson, my artistic talent to Edward Honzik.
- I, Rita Legris, my concentration, to Alice Book.
- I, Mark Moore, my knack for chemistry experimentation, to Donald Chaplinski.
- I, Betty Neumann, my glamour to Geraldine Williams. I, Harriet Bilyard, my quiet ways to Donald Searle. I, Beatrice Green, my "line" to Paul Lehnig.
- I, Dorothy Kinder, my ambition to Ida Beever.
- I, Naomi Hack, my black locks to Bob Sizemore. I, Irene Beach, my dimples to Gerry Boudreau.
- We, Lorraine Sneigoski and Mardelle Hackley, our cheerful personalities to Phyllis Bilyard.
- I, Louise Raines, my aggressiveness to Dean Mewbuorn.
- I, Darlene Lambert, my ability to study, to David Hawkins.
- We, The Seniors, to the Junior Class, the responsibilities that will rest so heavily upon them during their last year at B. B. C. H. S.
- We, The Seniors, to the Sophomore Class, our ability to raise money for a super Prom.
- We, The Seniors, to the Freshman Class, our good manners and excellent behavior.
- We, The Seniors, to the Faculty, nothing but memories—all we have left to give.

In witness whereof we have hereunto affixed our seal, this 29th day of May, nineteen hundred and forty-two.

29. School's Out. Hurray! No more eight-thirty classes!

BAND

Outstanding in the band activities of this year was the participation in the District Band Contest held in Streator, Illinois, on March 14. This is the second year that the band has taken part in this contest. On April 17, the Kankakee Valley Music Festival was held at St. Anne, Illinois, and Bradley mingled with the bands of the other schools of the county in this meet. Mr. Arthur assisted in the direction of this meet.

LATIN CLUB

The members of the Latin Club began the year by purchasing gold pins bearing the club name. As to the social activities of the club, they were numerous. Among these were theatre and bowling parties, a Halloween party, Christmas party, and Valentine parties. The number of members this year was eleven.

Key To Picture

First Row—Miss Brock, Falkenhan, Stokes, McCleary, Arseneau.

Second Row — Legris, Vickery, Williams, Hoverstock, Hertz, Pray, Sniegowski.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Miss Fleming was chosen sponsor of the Home Economics Club this year. Socially the year was a success for the members. Among their many activities were a weenie roast, Christmas party, several teas, and a style show for the mothers of the members. At Thanksgiving time they prepared baskets for charity.

Key To Picture

First Row—Schultz, Eby, Chafey, Marlaire, Chafey, Hays, McCue, Miss Fleming.

Second Row--Harris, Alexander, Jensen, Hackley, Hasemeyer, Bilyard, Klonowski, Amiot.

Third Row—Maisonneuve, Vickery, Martin, Outsen, Wilson, Richmond, Wadleigh, Pierson.

PEP CLUB

Miss Mayer-Oakes was chosen as sponsor for the Pep Club this year. Although members did not elect officers or take part in any social activities, they were the donors of many cheers at the basketball and football games, the main purpose of the club. The leaders of these cheers were Darlene Marquis, Dolores Martin, and Charles Sederstrand. The number of members this year was fifty, which made the Pep Club the largest club in the high school.

Key To Picture

First Row—Dolores Martin, Charles Sederstrand, Darlene Marquis, cheerleaders.

Second Row—McCue, Hays, Cannon, Schultz, Eby, McCue, Miss Mayer-Oakes, Moens, Amiot, Hiatt, Book, Alexander, Harris.
